KNOTT IS FEEBLE.

Grand Old Man in An Inva- lid Chair.

Former Gov. J. Proctor Knott, the "Sage of Lebanon," remains in a very enfeebled condition. However he has passed through the winter months fairly well. He spends his time in an invalid chair or on his couch, being as helpless as a babe.

The distinguished old statesman's articulation is very bad and on has to become accustomed to his speech and lean closely to him to understand the whisperings of the tongue that has caused the world to laugh, to tremble under its biting sarcasm or become thrilled and charmed by its eloquence. The old Governor seems highly pleased to have his friends call on him, and when he is feeling good, rejoices in their conversation.

Almost Food For Fishes.

Driven from their course sixty miles, the steamer Colon, enroute to Panama carrying Senator William O. Bradley, his daughter, Mrs. John G. South, of Frankfort; Mrs. Graham Vreeland, of Louisville Congresswoman John Langley and wife, of Kentucky, and several other Kentuckians, came close to being wrecked at sea off Cape Hatteras. Mrs. Vreeland was made unconscious from nervous prostration.

Some Sayings.

The Chicago Tribune has dug up these "sayings of famous men" which they didn't say:

Jonah: "I didn't quite agree with you."

Marco Bozzaris: "Three strikes."

Thackeray (to his nose): Low bridge!"

Nero: "No heat? All right; I'll turn some on."

John Milton: "There is no loss without some gain."

Shylock: "Raw! Raw! Raw!"

Might Not be Alive.

McMinnville, Tenn.—Mrs. Otie Jett, of this place, writes: "I don't believe I would be alive today, if it hadn't been for Cardui. I lay in bed for 27 days, and the doctor came every day, but he did me no good. Finally he advised an operation, but I would not consent, and instead took Cardui. Now I am going about the house, doing my work, and even doing my wash. Cardui worked wonders in my case. I am in better health than for five years." Cardui is a strengthening tonic for women. It relieves pain, tones up the nerves, builds strength. Try it. At your druggist's.

Solomon is credited with having been the wisest man that ever lived, yet we'd put a man in jail today for doing some of the foolish stunts that Solomon performed.
